

Lauren Curry
Ex-Officio
Atlanta, GA

Lauren Curry currently serves as Chief of Staff in the Office of Governor Brian Kemp.

She previously served as Deputy Chief of Staff, Chief Operating Officer, and as Director of Government Affairs and Policy for Governor Kemp.

Prior to joining the Governor's Office, Curry served as Deputy Director of the Georgia Environmental Protection Division, Chief of Staff for the Georgia Emergency Management and Homeland Security Agency, Director of Public and Governmental Affairs at the Georgia Department of Natural Resources, Special Projects Director at the Georgia Department of Economic Development, and press aide to Governor Sonny Perdue.

Curry earned a bachelor's degree in Government and Business Economics from Wofford College and a master's degree in Public Administration from the University of Georgia.